The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, September 3rd, 1900

If any argument were needed in favour of the suspension for the present of missionary effort in the interior of China, it is to be found in the heartrending narrative of the sufferings of a party of missionaries while escaping from Pingyao, in Shansi, to Hankow. The terrible story, as told in the N.C. Daily News, shows how eight adults and six children left Pingyao on the 25th June and were subsequently joined by Mr. and Mrs. GLOVER and two children and Miss GAZER from Lu-an (all the party being members of the China Inland Mission), to make their way overland to Hankow, the nearest treaty port. They were fifty days accomplishing the journey, and five of them perished miserably on the way, and all of them suffered privations and ill-treatment almost unexpressable. Indeed, it is a marvel that any of them survived to tell the melancholy tale of murderous cruelty inflicted upon them by the callous-hearted people of Shansi. They had to leave Pingyao, where the Magistrate had always been friendly, because the savage Governor Yu Hsien had practically ordered the destruction of all foreigners. The Pingyao Magistrate did what he could for them, however. He furnished them with an escort and sent them off to Tai-yuan, the capital, 150 li distant; but when they had arrived within about 20 li from this city, they were met by a native Christian who was fleeing south. He told them the Inland Mission premises there had already been burned, that the Roman Catholic Mission had been torn down, and that the Baptist Mission was surrounded by a raging mob. Alarmed by this intelligence, they turned back towards Pingyao, and their escort at once left them. They reached Lucheng, where there was an Inland Mission station, in a state of utter destitution, having been stripped of all the money and valuables they possessed to satisfy the exorbitant demands of the people in the places through which they passed. There they rested in peace for two days, but had to resume their flight at midnight with nothing but a donkey-load of bedding and clothes and some silver to pay their expenses en route. They were soon relieved of these possessions. About 40 li from Lucheng they were stopped by a mob, who demanded money, and then proceeded to help themselves, leaving the poor fugitives not only completely destitute but stripped of all their clothes except a single pair of native drawers each. Neither sex nor age was respected or compassionated, and in this pitiable condition they were driven along the road by men armed with clubs, from village to village, new bands of tormentors turning out from each and hounding them on. Neither food nor water was obtainable, except grass from the wayside and water from filthy puddles. Miss ROSE, one of the party, succumbed to the inhuman beatings and torturing to which she was subjected about 50 li north of Tsechau-fu, in Shansi. The full details of her martyrdom are almost too sickening for recapitulation, and her colleague Miss HOUSTON fared little better, for, when she at length got away from her torturers and rejoined the party, her brain was protruding from a wound in her head. She struggled on with them, however, until they reached Yunnan, in Hupeh, where she died. Mrs. COOPER, another lady of the party, died at Yingshan of the hardships of the journey, her sufferings having been terrible from exposure, blows, and starvation. Two of the children likewise died untimely, done to death by the brutal peasantry. The surviving children when they arrived at Hankow were mere walking skeletons. It is only fair to add that so soon as the party entered the province of Hupeh, over which H. E. CHANG CHIN-TUNG rules, they met with great kindness from the Magistrates there and were supplied with all necessities. In Shansi they had been hunted like wild beasts, and none of them would have escaped alive but for the selfish anxiety of the various officials that they should not die in their districts, probably inspired by a fear that in the future some reckoning might be called for.

This is only one story out of many. It is the first of which anything like connected details have been given, and it is enough to turn even a "sluggard's blood to flame." It is bad enough to hear of our fellow countrymen being tortured and roasted to death by the "Heathen Chinese," but to learn that these pitiless fiends beat and stripped gently born women and delicate children, and drove them on the hard roads barefooted, bare-headed, nearly nude under the blazing sun, hungry, thirsty, weary, and bruised with cruel blows from heavy sticks, is something that can neither be forgotten nor forgiven to the Governor of Shansi, whose hostile proclamation provoked this display of cold-blooded ferocity. If that infamous official is permitted to live and exult in his cruel deeds, it will reflect undying shame on the SALISBURY Government. One of the items in settlement of the long account with the Chinese Government should be the surrender of this man to British justice. A mere indemnity—the usual salve proposed and too often accepted by the British Foreign Office—will not meet the present case. What is wanted is the swift and relentless punishment, not of the tools, but of the instigators of these crimes against humanity. We are not speaking now of the lives lost in the British Legation and in the hostilities, but of the heartless murders of women and children in the interior. Because the Ministers and their subordinates were not massacred, it does not follow that other wrongs should go unatoned for, and we trust that public opinion will be brought to bear on the Government in this matter. We also hope that the British Government will at the same time, no matter what may be the opposition, absolutely refuse to allow, in future, any women to accompany missionaries into the interior of China. They cannot, perhaps, prevent men from foolishly going in search of a martyr's crown; they can only decline to afford them protection beyond the Treaty Port limits; but they can, we think, justly refuse to allow them to take their female relatives. It is monstrous that young and innocent children should be wantonly exposed to the horrible cruelties that were inflicted upon the hapless little ones in Shansi. They are not free agents in the matter, and they should be protected from the frightful risks their progenitors cheerfully undertake. The Roman Catholic missionaries, being celibate, do not expose tender infants to the savage brutalities of Celestial mobs. Neither should their confreres. Let them also take the vow of celibacy and not drag tenderly nurtured women into the squalid cities and villages of the Central Kingdom, to be exposed to studied insult and open violence. We have had enough of this kind of thing. It is time that the Government intervened and put down its foot in this matter. It is extremely doubtful, we think, whether the presence of women missionaries in China works for good at all. Their influence among converts may be beneficial, but to counterbalance that they arouse among the mass of the population a great deal of prejudice, from the status they claim for their sex, which is totally opposed to Chinese ideas. We are not arguing that the Chinese are right, but we are of opinion that Christianity should not be forced upon them. At any rate it is not the best preparation of the ground to go and scratch up a crop of prejudices. Neither is it desirable that anti-missionary outrages should be provoked, or excuses for their occurrence be furnished. If Christian Missions are to achieve success in the most unpromising soil of the Celestial Empire, it will only be through careful living down of prejudices and an apostolic example. The road for the missionary in China is a hard one, with little success to cheer him on the thorny way. But if he elects to travel he should not expect to drag with him wife or children. It was not thus that St. PAUL set forth on his voyage, nor were the early pioneers accompanied by their female relations. What we are concerned with, however, is that there shall never again be possible a repetition of the pitiful stories of the last few weeks, when helpless women and children of our race were exposed to the jeers, jibes, outrage, and unbridled violence of inhuman Chinese mobs.

During the 24 hours preceding noon on Saturday there were fresh cases of plague or deaths to report.

Mr. H. P. Tooker has been appointed Acting Director of Public Works and Water Authority during the absence on leave of Mr. R. D. Ormsby.

The Messageries Maritimes Company inform us that the Company's s.s. Laos, which was to have sailed from Marseilles on the 26th ult., only left on the 30th, owing to the strike. It is hoped that the Laos will be able to make up the time lost and arrive shortly after her due date.

The residents of Queen's Road West were awakened at about one o'clock on Saturday morning by a number of Chinese women, who were shouting and singing at the top of their voices. A Chinese constable spoiled their fun by taking them into custody. Later in the day they were taken before Mr. Hazeland, who fined each of them $3.

There will be a four-act scratch race of the Boat Club for spoons at 5.30 p.m. to-day, on the Regatta course. The boats and stations are:—No. 1: Stroke Horst, Dandy, Wilson, S. Stevens; No. 2: Stroke Young, Smith, Wild, Winterburn; No. 3: Stroke Hance, Kennett, Grimbale, Kaplingst. A launch will leave Wardley St. Wharf for members and friends at 5 p.m. Mr. E. H. Grace has kindly consented to act as umpire.

It is a common complaint on the part of those who live some distance from the centre of the town that they have the greatest difficulty in getting chairs, inasmuch as the chair coolies, when they see them coming towards them take to their heels, carrying their chair with them. It would have a good effect if all served in this manner followed the runways up and gave them into custody. This is what Mr. T. K. Dealy, of Queen's College, did last week, the coolies being fined $3, or eight days, on Saturday by Mr. Hazeland. The Magistrate remarked from the Bench that the behaviour of coolies in this Colony was becoming intolerable—a remark that every one will endorse.

The French Government has chartered several steamers to convey troops to the Far East. The Notre Dame de Salut was to leave Marseilles for Taku between August 8 and 10, having on board some 500 men and officers, 220 mules, and 500 tons of war material and provisions. The Caledonien and the Melbourne, which follow, convey about 2,000 men, with provisions and ammunition. The Malopon was to have a cargo of mules and war material, as well as troops, on board. The Alexandrie III, also chartered by the State, was to leave about August 15th, having 1,000 men and war material on board. The Audes and two other vessels from Havre have also been chartered to transport troops and war material to the Far East.

As the popularity of Kowloon as a place of residence increases, the demands upon the hotel accommodation increase likewise, and Mr. Osborne, of the Kowloon Hotel, is making special efforts to keep pace with the times. He has had a new wing added to the original building, and will thus be in a better position to provide for the comfort of his guests than heretofore. The new premises are two stories in height. Excellent views are obtainable from the upper storey, where there are four airy and well-appointed bedrooms. Below is a large dining room, in addition to offices, and a clean well-ventilated cook-house. It is Mr. Osborne's intention to utilise the old dining room as a drawing room for the use of his boarders. Alongside the dining room is a verandah, looking south, and in front of the verandah is a nice grass plot which it is proposed to use for alfresco teas. A new and improved entrance from Chater Road has also been made.

Admiral Skrydoff was to leave Russia, via Paris, to take up the command of the Russian Pacific Squadron on or about August 8.

The Japanese cruiser Asama left St. Nazaire on 26th ult. for Folkestone to complete her supply of munitions, and was then to start for Yokohama.

The French ironclad Redoutable, flying the flag of Admiral Pottier, and the cruiser Chacaloup-Laubert, left Cherbourg for China on the 2nd ult.

The Kelatische Zeitung learns, from diplomatic sources, that it is intended to institute a financial control in China to secure the payment of all claims against the China Government.

Some anxiety is being felt for the safety of the Rev. and Mrs. Lewis and Mr. Hewett, of the China Inland Mission, who are supposed to be on their way to Canton from Hing Yi in Kweichow.

The following appointments have been made at the Admiralty:—Lieutenant C. MacKenzie, to the Centurion for the Whiting, in command, to date July 28; Lieutenant H. S. Sherbrooke, to the Centurion, to date August 20.

The first-class gunboat Rattler, recently paid off from the China Station, is to be ready to commission in November for another term of foreign service. The Rattler is to be refitted at Sheerness Dockyard at a cost of £12,514.

The Trustees and Committee of the Hongkong branch of the Navy League have invited the members and associates of the branch to be present at the opening by Mrs. Powell of the Royal Naval canteen at Nos. 1 and 2, Blue Buildings, at 5 p.m. on Thursday next, the 6th inst.

Out of twenty-two members of the Bible Christian Mission at Yunnan-fu only eleven have arrived here safely as yet, and it is feared that something has befallen the remaining eleven, who left Yunnan for Hongkong within a few hours of the former batch. The various Consuls en route have been notified, and enquiries set on foot among the Chinese authorities this side of Yunnan.

On Saturday the Philippine Civil Commission entered upon their deliberations in the form of a legislative body at Manila. In political status the Commission will be paramount, and the military Governor will act under its authority and enforce its enactments. The Commissioners are: William H. Taft, Luke E. Wright, Dean C. Worcester, Henry C. Ide, and Bernard Moses.

Mr. David Olliphant, who was one of the few Englishmen killed at Peking, was the third son of Mr. T. T. Olliphant, Queen Mary's. He was educated at St. Andrews University and abroad, and in 1896 passed high in the examination list of student interpreters for the East. In 1897 he joined his first post in Peking, where he acquired an excellent reputation for ability, and, on the special recommendation of Sir Claude Macdonald, was, early this year, promoted to be a full second-class assistant in the Consular service.

The Emperor of Germany on the 30th ult. was to perform the official ceremony of naming the colours which he has conferred on the German troops on the way to China. This is a well-known German custom. The Emperor has sent his congratulations to the Commander of the German Legation-guard at Peking, Graf von Soden, bestowing on him the fourth-class order of the Red Eagle with swords.

The Kwang Ming district, in the Western part of the Province of Kwangtung, which had hitherto been quiet, became the scene of tumultuous disorder and bloodshed during the early part of last month. This information was gleaned by us from a few refugees who have been fortunate enough to reach Hongkong in safety, after a perilous journey of over one hundred and fifty miles. They tell the same tale of pillage, incendiarism, personal torture and murder, horrible to contemplate, much less describe. As if by a murderous signal raised at the four cardinal points of the district, soldiers and civilians, the poorest and the richest of the residents, rose as to one man, and gave the cry of "Death to the foreigner." Unfortunately only a few could successfully flee from the fury of the almost instantly aroused populace, who, in their eager desire to carry out what to them was a long expected edict, slaughtered, score after score of native Christians, and tortured others till a cruel lingering death put an end to their sufferings.

The death is announced from Shanghai of one of the officers of the Indian troops now in camp there, Lieut. Charles Gray Campbell passing away at the General Hospital on Tuesday morning. The deceased officer belonged to the 4th Rajputs, and arrived with the 2nd battalion, to which he was attached for service in China. On the voyage from India, the N.C. Daily News states, Lieut. Campbell did not have any illness of a serious nature, but after leaving Hongkong in the transport Zamania he caught a chill and was ill on arrival at Shanghai. His condition became so bad that he was sent to the General Hospital. The cause of death is reported to have been pleurisy and an abscess on the liver. The deceased officer, who was born in 1868, obtained his Lieutenantcy in 1893, first entering the Scottish Rifles. He had no war service, but is spoken of by his brother officers as being a very promising young soldier.

The funeral took place on the 28th ult. H.M.S. Undaunted supplied the band, and the Chaplain of H.M.S. Poussantier, the Rev. Mr. Gano, conducted the burial service.

OUR PARIS LETTER.

Paris, 3rd August.
The present tactics of Lord Roberts may be very able, but it must be confessed that they do not appear to be either very tangible or productive of striking results. The rapidity and successes of other days are demanded by his countrymen. French agents too are commencing to be severe, and by opinion is not satisfied at the inability to finish up with De Wet, Olivier, and Botha. The enemy of late is breaking much too freely through the cordons.
It is the opinion of a great many people that Roberts is too lenient with his foe. Greater severity is considered absolutely necessary henceforth. The Boers swear and forewear themselves as readily as they throw off their coats.
A few more of the culprits' farm-houses levelled or burned, their property confiscated, the franchise or voting power for ever denied them, their horses and ponies forfeited, like their arms, all these things would make them feel the pains of the war which they provoked. As for winning Dutch love, that is merely moonshine.
Make them feel the Power they challenged, and its strength will be all the better felt. When Boers surrender, they always manage to leave their cannons in security. That conduct should be more stringently investigated. The cannon helps the rebels to hold out. Insurgents with no chances of victory can only be considered, as rebels. Astonishment is expressed at the inactivity of Carrington's force; it is a puzzle that the Delagoa railway was not seized long ago.
If the remnants of the Boer army were pressed back on Kruger, they would soon bring the obstinate old fanatic to his senses, but so long as he has got the gold, which he scooped out of the Banks at the last moment, he will continue to have followers. Happily he can pillage no more; he is cut off from the mines. Cut off from his means of receiving supplies of food and ammunition by the Delagoa railway, he can still practise Rob Roy existence. However, that does not justify the conclusion that the last of his followers will accept the same conditions. When there is nothing to gain, it is useless becoming an adventurer; it only weighs down on the closing scene.

The murder of the King of Italy was a horrible sensation. No crowned head can now consider himself as safe. The resurrection of militant anarchy may, without hesitation, be attributed to the acquittal of Sipido, by Belgian justice so misdirected as to elevate him to rank as a sort of popular pet, to vex and annoy Britain—who made Belgium, and who still guarantees her independence—while his own friends glorify and idolize him as a hero. The late King Humbert was a good sort of man, and he did harm to no one. Nevertheless, he was sacrificed to an inhuman hate. There is no use denouncing the tragic act, since rational humanity deplores it. But how cops with the aggressive anarchist? As long as wild men will group together, to exterminate society, to make civilization impossible, who do not hesitate to sacrifice their own life in order to secure the taking away of another, so long will the terrible evil continue. Punishment, however severe, does not cure them. Perhaps were they to be tried in secret, as by a drumhead court-martial, and then executed as swiftly, it would deprive the assassins of their morbid love of notoriety. The anarchist can pick his victim where he pleases; the one committed, the police then find out all concerning him. The unfortunate Shah has had to experience the frenzy of an anar-chist's attempt to slay him. His own subjects are not quite a stranger to the deep domination of removing their rulers in the red-handed fashion. We need not be told there are other rulers down far attention by anarchists. Bresci was an exceptionally cool hand; to lodge three bullets in the heart of the King of Italy, in the midst of a crowd, is an extraordinary act indeed.
What intense hatred, what depravity the proceeding reveals! The Bresci was well clad, well covered with jewelry, in fact the true type of a masquerader. But his one solution for what displeased him was death; no pity, no compassion. The worst of all this and break in our civilization is that no one sees how the corruption and danger are to be avoided or corrected.

The general gloominess which seems to overshadow so many countries would appear to have settled down upon the Exhibition. The heart of the show is affected; the number of visitors tends to decline more and more, rather than to increase each day. That spells loss in very large letters, while financially the deficit in the receipts of customs will be heavy. What will it be? Make a guess at the truth. The cost of the Exhibition was 10 millions of francs, the Government guaranteed 20 millions of francs and the Municipal Council as much. The latter is to enter into possession of the smaller of the two new palaces, while the state has the larger one, plus the Alexander III. bridge. The remaining 60 millions are taken up by the five leading financial societies, namely the Credit Foncier, the Credit Lyonnais, etc. What was the share of each is only known to them-

NOT BEYOND HOPE.

Those who have suffered year after year with Rheumatism will be glad to hear of a remedy that has proved an absolute specific. There are no conditions of Rheumatism, no matter how severe nor from what cause, that cannot immediately be relieved and permanently cured by Little's Oriental Balm. People who have tried a hundred remedies, liniments, and doctors are apt to be resigned to their fate. They come to believe that there is no such thing as a cure for Rheumatism. They have been disappointed so many times that another trial seems almost useless. To all such we say, try Little's Oriental Balm faithfully and patiently and you will soon rejoice at the return of your precious health. Many a person was cured through Little's Oriental Balm by the use of a single bottle, others used from 3 to 6 bottles to obtain the same result. In only very rare and exceedingly obstinate cases were more than 6 bottles necessary. Sold at Re. 1 per bottle.

DISPENSARY, LD.

solves—probably the public will not know tomorrow. The sum of 65 millions was raised in 34 millions of shares at 20 francs each; each share had 20 coupons attached to it, valued at 1 franc each; these gave as many free admissions to the Exhibition. The half million was intended to pay the commission of one franc per share to the Bank, and to cover the expenses of issue. The shares made their value appreciably felt, so that at present the drop amounts to 20 francs, that is, the share can be had for 16 francs. The tickets are detached, and sell for two francs or four cents, instead of the chartered price of 10 francs, or 20 cents! The commissioners of the show have drawn for the 60 millions, plus the official 40—while current expenses are met out of the daily gate-money.
Of course, the revenues from concessions, the rents from the sites of stalls have to be credited. But even that will not close the abyss of the deficit.

The International Association Congress of the Press, held within the Exhibition, was very unfortunate; the official fêtes prepared for its members had to be countermanded, owing to the death of the King of Italy. This Association relies for support on continental members.
Neither England nor the United States Newspaper Associations have thrown in their lot with L'Internationale nor is it clear what Anglo-Saxons would gain by joining. The latter Associations are independent—hence their superiority. A Russian is at the head of the foreign Press in Paris.

M. Emile Olivier, the maker of the Franco-German War, is publishing his memoirs and remembrances. It is an agreeable volume, as may be well imagined. Prince Jerome Napoleon is not an atheist, as was believed up to the present—a satisfactory discovery indeed. The Prince wrote to M. Olivier on the 9th January, 1891, that he had "hatred of Atheism in all its forms." That will strike many as a death-bed repentance.
